

22.5.20 This Will Make You Forget Skateboards Danna

How can you live with skate boards?! Do you want to shove something cool in your friends faces? Try a hover board. They can light up, has a smooth surface, you can observe it and best of all it floats above the ground! Now who wouldn't want that?

To start with, they can guide the way with their cool lights. Especially at night. The lights can make you concern if danger is coming. You don't know, maybe the lights could help you in the future. It also looks very cool and at the same time, very safe. It's very handy when you forget your flashlight and phone.

In addition, you don't need to spend hours trying to wax it. The surface is so smooth you don't need to worry about waxing and splinters forever! Hover boards don't need wood or stuff that will hurt your feet. So you don't have to go home with splinters or with sore feet. Smooth surface is the best part of it.

Also, you can flip it over to observe the cool stuff underneath. Everyone knows that underneath a skateboard there's only wood and wheels. But underneath a hoverboard there's cool lines and lights! The bottom is just as shiny as the top. Plus if you open it up there's more cool stuff!

Most importantly it floats! This is handy because there's no annoying rocks to set you off track. You don't need to change the wheels because it doesn't have wheels! Also you get to miss the bubblegum on the floor. How cool is that?
